As Phelps did not return in reasonable time there was great anxiety throughout the entire area east of the town.

Riding horseback for two days and nights, Ferris Phelps finally was able to reach the scene on May 13. With the help of his men he was able to reach so strong that it carried his body under the tree. His foreman, who was with him, was unable to help him, his employee struggling but was unable to render assistance. By almost Herculean efforts Phelps finally managed to get the horse to his feet and he reached in an exhausted condition.

The idea of crossing the river was abandoned, so the men were down and the men returned to the ranch.

TRAPLINE REGULATIONS CRITICIZED BY THE REGULAR TRAPPERS

On the front page of this paper appears a story in which two trap-pers condemn the proposed Alberta trapline regulations.

These two trappers, whose trap-lines are possibly a hundred miles apart, express a general opinion of regular or professional trappers regarding the rules governing trapping in Alberta. The complaint is general. "The traps are set in such a way that they have no protection whatsoever after paying for their traps, and they advocate the adoption of trapline regulations.

These two trappers, whose trap-lines are possibly a hundred miles apart, express a general opinion of regular or professional trappers regarding the rules governing trapping in Alberta. The complaint is general.

The regular trappers have for years been kicking against the present laws and regulations, understanding that the game department has refused to act in the matter.

At the present rate of slaughter of the fur-bearing animals by every Tom, Dick and Harry, here on getting a catch at whatever cost, it is only a matter of time when there will be no fur.

Every season complaints have reached The Tribune from the regular trappers, who are having to be annihilated by the unscrupulous when the regular trappers, realizing that seed correct.

The sooner this trapping business gets into the hands of the regular trapper under trapping regulations the better it will be for the protection of the trapper, and for the protection of the fur-bearing animals.

Those from Ontario will recall that fish-worms are as common as grass in the north.

There is at least one spot in Grande Prairie where fish-worms can be found in large numbers, and that is on the home of J. B. Oliver on which his home is located.

The robins have found this out and have made it their particular haunt to the property. At least a dozen pairs are nesting about the house. These birds evidently do not believe in traveling when they get their grubstake right at their door.

It is said that robins can hear when they have spotted the place they have in mind in exploring the position.

Readers, you have all heard the story of the fish-worm. When it comes to its grapping with a worm, the fish has nothing to do with it. The birds get hold of a fish-worm and it is usually successful in getting it.

But to get back to why the fish-worms are here.

Mr. Oliver informed the writer that the fish-worms were imported from the United States. There also are some fish-worms in the hills opposite the side of the street. It is understood that Frank Walker, a former attorney for the province, was not wishing Mr. Oliver to have all the good things, gathered some of the worms and planted them in his garden.

There were only one or two places in Edmonton where these worms could be found, and that was the result of the fact that each case the foundation stock had been imported from the East in earth.

The robins the fish-worms seem to do well and multiply very rapidly.

Possibly someone versed in worms, after reading this, will say that worms are not indigenous to the worms sold

they should similarly get the credit for beneficial legislation. The statement is entirely incorrect, of course.

us why Social Credit will not work. Use plain, understandable figures. If these changes were made on the motion and insistence of the Liberal party, it is entirely incorrect, of course.

The school lands were administered by the federal government as a trust for the benefit of the province. When these resources were transferred to our own administration in Alberta this school lands were put into the hands of the province to administer it under the same conditions that the Dominion did. School lands were, and are, in an entirely different category from those sold under certain regulations and the like.

There is no necessity to depart from the provisions of the Act to hand down the regulations for handling these school lands. The province has however out of line with present-day values the price which must be paid. When the federal government, at their debt, legislation, the province consulted with them as to what action should be taken in connection with these school lands. It was agreed that the necessary legislation in both provincial and federal would be introduced in the next session so that the Board of Review under the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement would be authorized to deal with school lands. This legislation will now be necessary for the province to have authority to make adjustments to the like school lands when they appear to be excessive and will treat them in the same way.

The statement that a scoundrel of a farmer had been dispossessed of his land when he asked for a lower price is not true. The statement referred to an individual is absolutely incorrect. No school land has been sold since 1928, nor can it be sold except in the usual way by public auction.

Yours very truly,
WADE MATLOCK,
De Bort, Alberta.

W. A. GRANT,
REVIEW

Editor of The Tribune:
Your note, published in its issue of May 17, carries considerable defensive or offensive material. It would be well to let the public know that the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement is not the crux of the matter.

The implication appears to be that

Frank Kennedy is not an honest candidate for the "criminating automaton" and that he would be leader who would shun him with a great fight if he didn't sign his name to his letter. Does he find U. F. A. most attractive? Does he think that, after they have made themselves safe under the cover of an assumed name? The implication appears to be that

By signing their letters they deserve to be treated in the same way.

SOCIAL CREDIT, WHAT FOR?

There seems to be a united effort to tell everyone that is or seems to be contrary to accepted dogmas of the past. If not a scient agreement to play the old political game of non-cooperation.

"Let nature take its course," is the slogan. In Europe they have had it for fifteen years and the theory of the "survival of the fittest" originated in the United States in 1900. Caucasians under the iron heel of dictatorship are ready to do it.

Are we ready to follow the example of Europe? Are we ready to accept a permanent depression, with the accompanying difficulties and a much greater economic and social dislocation?

It is my first conviction that public discussion is the most important thing to our citizenship today on the sowing of our crops. Conditions are like political difficulties and a much greater difficulty is the lack of time to discuss.

One great deterrent to public discussion is the fear of what would happen if we turned downward.

use why Social Credit will not work. Use plain, understandable figures. If these changes were made on the motion and insistence of the Liberal party, it is entirely incorrect, of course.

The school lands were administered by the federal government as a trust for the benefit of the province. When these resources were transferred to our own administration in Alberta this school lands were put into the hands of the province to administer it under the same conditions that the Dominion did. School lands were, and are, in an entirely different category from those sold under certain regulations and the like.

The robins have found this out and have made it their particular haunt to the property. At least a dozen pairs are nesting about the house. These birds evidently do not believe in traveling when they get their grubstake right at their door.

It is said that robins can hear when they have spotted the place they have in mind in exploring the position.

Readers, you have all heard the story of the fish-worm. When it comes to its grapping with a worm, the fish has nothing to do with it. The birds get hold of a fish-worm and it is usually successful in getting it.

But to get back to why the fish-worms are here.

Mr. Oliver informed the writer that the fish-worms were imported from the United States. There also are some fish-worms in the hills opposite the side of the street. It is understood that Frank Walker, a former attorney for the province, was not wishing Mr. Oliver to have all the good things, gathered some of the worms and planted them in his garden.

There were only one or two places in Edmonton where these worms could be found, and that was the result of the fact that each case the foundation stock had been imported from the East in earth.

The robins the fish-worms seem to do well and multiply very rapidly.

Possibly someone versed in worms, after reading this, will say that worms are not indigenous to the worms sold they should similarly get the credit for beneficial legislation. The statement is entirely incorrect, of course.

Timely Hints From the Beaverlodge Sub-Station

By W. D. Albright
"IT IS A PLEASURE AS WELL AS A DUTY TO SERVE"

According to the calendar, this is west. The seventh Albert Lawrence had a man planting potatoes and the man had been sowing grain but for the damage of small damage to the Grande Prairie district comparatively little grain was sown by mid-April. The April weather records are interesting. The Beaverlodge mean temperature of 44°, the Peace River 41°, the Buffalo Head Prairie and 21.83° on the river flat at Fort Vermilion. The April precipitation at the three points coming to 0.60, 0.14 and 0.11 inches, respectively.

In a late spring it is very comfortable to have part of one's crop acreage in meadow. "Taking nothing for granted," was the advice of an experienced man, writer once worked. It applies fully to such matters as germination tests of seed grain.

With the many farmers in many regions the twenty-fourth of May has the favorite finishing date for Dr. Seeger Wheeler has been a strong proponent of harvesting grain as soon as it is ripe. By appearance as this is deemed may this year prove for some nearer the present view has often followed the harvest has been made at fair depth. If there is not too much trash on the surface, and if a medium light rain has not fallen, the grain may be sown on a warm day when the ground is friable very little harm will be done to the grain with myriad of fine seed sowing methods will be in the most vulnerable stage. A week later some of those same seedlings would be long enough and tough enough to retain their hold in some lump of earth.

FAMOUS CANADIAN JILL

Sir Charles Saunders, who gained world-wide fame for his efforts in developing Marquis wheat, is reported to be "quite ill" at his hotel in Ottawa.

On the Lower Peace seedling is usually later than on the plateau and the seedling is usually later than on the air force. The three points coming to 0.60, 0.14 and 0.11 inches, respectively.

Thus nothing for granted.

pump fitted to an ordinary milking tube avail in a pinstripe—W. A. Ainslie. For the treatment of purulent abscesses, especially in the udder, sub-inflation of the udder has now been superseded by the calcium gluconate method, which is even intravenous rather than hydrostatic—therefore the technique is rather involved and it is advisable to have a qualified and experienced veterinarian. If treatment is to give improved results it is to be considered that the site of the abscesses is the site of injection, which is on the joint of the neck.

The calcium gluconate treatment is the most effective and easiest, the technique which is the injection of calcium in the blood stream. The site of treatment is on the other hand, sharp, pointed, straight, and the air pressure is given by the air pump and thus discontinuing the obstruction of calcium from the blood stream. The direction of the air stream is to the infected in the udder. The greatest care must be taken in this connection and crude apparatus might easily injure the udder. The pressure of the air pressure may be too strong and in the second place, the air would not be properly filtered, hence infection may be introduced into the udder. Proper outfit for this purpose comprises a test tube and a length of rubber tubing which is connected to the tube and sterilized. This again is connected by a short rubber tube with a small pump or atomizer which is used on an atomizer. By an outfit of this kind the air is filtered through the tube and with the small pump or atomizer built, the pressure is given very carefully so there is no danger of rupturing the tissues in the interior of the udder.

A complete outfit can be obtained from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or from rubber tubes when needed, may be obtained for 25 cents—E. J. Muir, Dominion Animal Husbandman, Ottawa.

Black Currants Not Fruiting

How six or eight loads of sawdust have been applied to the black currant bushes off—W. D. H. High Prairie.

Ans.—The most probable trouble is that the frost catches the buds.

On the other hand, if the bushes which have been frosty, an application would probably help to loosen them and thereby improve their life.

Two heavy droppings of manure detrimental to currant growth, although where sawdust is used as a stable manure, the results are quite satisfactory. In that case however a good deal of nitrogenous material is absorbed and applied with the currants, which would probably decompose the nitrogen. Otherwise the effect of the sawdust litter might not be good for it has been demonstrated that an excessive percentage of carbon in vegetable residue such as straw or even manure accumulates in the soil. Hogs—sawdust settings have been observed where the subsequent growth ranged from 10 to 15 inches. In course, of course, in an extreme case. Careless experiment is recommended ere much sawdust be spread around the garden.

Repellent for Turnip Flea Beetle

A shiny little black beetle a tenth of an inch long, called the turnip flea beetle, has been found to be a pest in June. Copper is so offensive to them that they are usually repelled by a strong solution of copper dusting the plants with a mixture consisting of Paris green 1 part, hydrated or air-dried lime 6 parts, copper carbonate or blue stone, 4 parts.

Disappointing Seed Grain

Much disappointment is to be expected this year in the quality of seed grain, even when wheat of fairly plump sample failing down to 100 bushels per acre.

An illustration station operator in the Peace River Block was astonished to find his Victoria oats testing only 12% in twelve out of twenty samples. Similar results are reported of farmers testing what they supposed were good seed oats and having to purchase other seed.

In the case of the 1934 wheat seed-est test shipments to Saskatchewan have fallen down badly on germination test, and quite number of varieties have been rejected. It is said that all the ears from Peace River have been rejected, this entailing considerable disappointment with the probability of some disappointment over the final returns. Even worse will be the crop losses sustained by farmers who have sown their seed. A member of our staff upon returning from the Peace River Block reported some farmers planning to plant quite heavily, and some from the Peace River Block to sown bushels per acre. Even this may be insufficient and worse than that, the greater the sowing the greater vitality likely to accompany such a low percentage. Better a limited acreage sown with good grain than a large acreage with poor seed.

What One Girl Wore:
By Betty Brownie.

This is a series of contrasts in suits and coats and whether you are the type who looks your best in minimally tailored affairs or in the dressier type of coat or ensemble, the couturiers have outside themselves to meet your needs.

For those who prefer the tailored type of coat, the tailored coat is the soft-waisted with a belt, the full-skirted coat in coats with unusual sleeves. Interesting necklines and the like, the field is wide, the variety is great, and the dressy coat reaches truly dramatic heights.

It may be that you will want both a tailored suit or coat for general wear and a dressy coat to complement your afternoon dresses. In this latter group, the grays and blues are particularly favored. Of course, navy and black are favorites, but with these shades predominating in the tailleur, the colors are varied and the dressy coat reaches truly dramatic heights.

A great many of the dressy coats are tailored. Some of them, of course, are not, but are designed primarily to be worn with separate fur. An innovation this season is the two-piece coat. It is cut on simple lines and has a separate cape edged with fur so that it may be worn in different ways.

This week we illustrate a smart coat of the dressy type. In beige sheep wool, with a roccoco cast, this coat

Sheep beige wool, one of the most fashionable colors for spring, is used here in a smart coat for dressy occasions. The dolman sleeves and fullness at the front are now features.

Rev. E. A. Wright Enters In Work Of New Charge

The Tribune is in receipt of a letter from Rev. E. A. Wright, who for five years was minister of Forbes Presbyterian Church. In it he writes: "I wish to let you know that he and his family arrived safely at Thorndale and that he had entered on the work of his new charge."

"A land of beautiful and efficient farms and good roads" is the way Mr. Wright describes the County of Oxford. "We tell of a severe street storm which swept over the area, during which there were some four hundred houses damaged."

"The street played havoc with the trees. "I think we are going to enjoy our work here," was the way Mr. Wright expressed his impressions of their new field of endeavor.

He made some very complimentary remarks about the County of Oxford, naming it "a quiet, peaceful place." "It is better than anything I have seen, even in old Ontario."

Legion Doings East Smoky Branch Of B.E.S.L.

By W. W. W. Green.

DE BOLT, May 21.—The annual meeting of the Legion of East Smoky Branch of the B.E.S.L. had their first meeting in their new clubhouse. The attendance was not as large as one would expect but most of the members are turning out because of the turn of good weather and are making strides to get their crops in. The members of the Legion are seated in the chair and congratulated the members on the completion of their new house, and stated it was his one desire that they should have a little home of our own.

After the general routine of business was over, the president, Mr. Perkins, called on Comrade William Perkins, as chairman of the building committee, to present his report, which he did in a very businesslike way.

It was very gratifying to the members to know that the debt was a reality and free from the debt.

Mrs. Newry and Mrs. Green were present and made the tea. It will take the Legion a few months to get the inside, but the home will be made in a day or two. The inside will be made as soon as possible, and the formal opening will be announced at a later date.

We are pleased that the weather has been so change for the better, but we were much disappointed in that the weather was so bad for our King's Jubilee, as we had to float, King and Queen, John Bull, and bodyguard, for the doings. But such is life and we had to make the best of it.

I think it very unfortunate for the children living in the rural parts of the country to have to wait where the children in the towns and cities were given their medals presented to them, but the children of the homesteaders were not given any medals, which is a moral want, and we wonder why.

In my six years of living in this country I can't see where the present government has done much for rural education. I believe any kind of a government would have done better, if known to the children in the rural schools would be as much appreciated by them as the children of the towns and cities, and the children in the towns and cities have seen in it. We will have an opportunity of taking this matter up again.

FOUR BROTHERS, VETERANS REIL REBELLION, BROTHERS MRS. MRS. ELSEY, GRANDE PRAIRIE

A recent issue of the Edmonton Bulletin carried a story of the reunion at Edmonton of four Cinnamons brothers, veterans of the Reil Rebellion.

The Cinnamons home was burned by the Indians in 1885, the family taking refuge in the hills, the Indians arriving there just one hour before the Indian advance. The men were immediately given arms and became members of the fighting force.

Members of the family witnessed the surrender of the Indian Chief Poundmaker to the forces of the Government.

The Cinnamons brothers are brothers of Mr. J. B. Elsey, who is living with his daughter, Mrs. J. B. Yule of Grande Prairie.

Mrs. Elsey has in her possession a smoke-marked sugar bowl taken from the ruins of the Cinnamons home. The parents passed on some years ago.
